

Index

NOTE.—This index has been prepared in the Virginia State Library according to plan suggested by Mr. Landon C. Bell, the author and compiler of the work. See pages 41 and 201 of this book.

The arrangement of the items in columns and not in lines adds to ease of use and is the arrangement employed in Mr. Bell's former books. In the present index, however, a separate entry is not made for each variant spelling of a name. The records cover many years, entries were made by different clerks, and spelling was not standardized. What appears to be the more frequent spelling or the one which accords with present usage has been used in making the entry in the index and the other spellings placed beside it in marks of parenthesis. Thus a great deal of space has been saved, but not, it is thought, at the expense of the ready usefulness of the index. Occasionally cross references have been resorted to.

The superior figures indicate the number of times a name appears on any page.
